The 1984-1985 school year was filled with soaring highs and gentle lows, but the one thing that remained constant at Latin was outstanding school spirit, including the feeling of pride and unity. Adding to this consistent feeling was the CLS family that supported Latin one hundred and ten percent by participating in all activities and offering encouragement to all those involved.

The year began as a celebration of Latin's fifteenth anniversary. Students returned from their fun-filled summers to find that the campus had expanded and undergone various changes since spring. The new auditorium was definitely under construction, planting excitement in the students' minds for the forthcoming drama productions, convocations, and graduations.

With the commencement of fall sports, rumors abounded indicating the new quarterback of the Varsity football team had an awesome arm. He proved the rumors to be true. The football team remained undefeated, attracting larger and larger crowds at both home and away games.

Clockwise from below: Special friendships flourish at Latin. Could Cameron be a budding Christie Brinkley? Rob and Paisley look like they know what it's all about. This is where spirit begins. Will we ever see this building completed? What's Blair focusing on this time? Seniors definitely take full advantage of the five minutes between classes. Forget the homework for now!

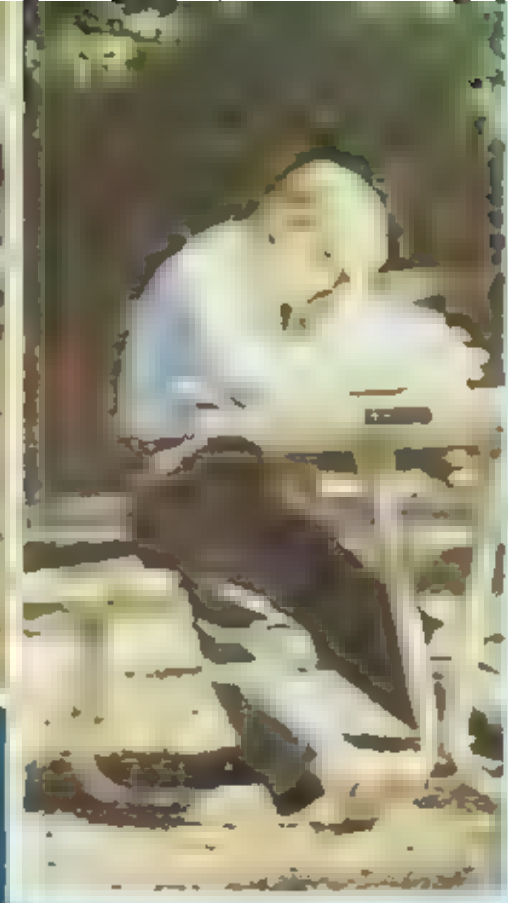

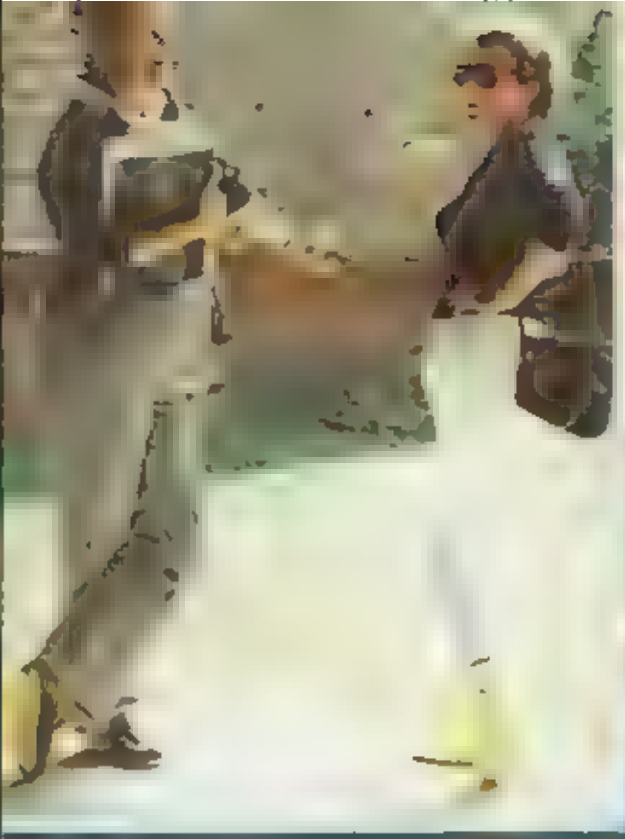

The excitement and thrill of capturing the Wachovia Cup in 1984 aroused hope and determination in the athletes for the 1985 season. Varsity girls' tennis won the State title for the fourth consecutive year. Varsity field hockey defeated Country Day for the first time ever. Latin also was the first school to host the State tournament. The JV football team followed in the Varsity's footsteps by defeating all their opponents. Now how could there be anything less than spirit at CLS?!

Latin was inundated with spirit. Everywhere one looked, he would find posters wishing the athletes luck in their special events. The athletes responded with continued success. A new ingredient was added to the spirit at Latin — the flags on Belk Gymnasium announcing the events that were to be played on a specific day. Lockers were decorated by cheerleaders or friends offering the athletes luck or congratulating them on a victorious performance against the opponent.

Another trimming on campus was the ever-famous rock. Returning to school each Monday, students would usually be greeted by the rock which was painted with some "catchy" epithet always concerning the school in a positive manner.

...on. Want to hear a secret? This sure beats working, but not by much. The few of headaches were worth it! Another busy day at Latin on the fields.

In addition to spirit concerning athletics, there was also spirit among the classes and clubs. The Class of '85 exemplified a truly unified senior class. They ventured to New York, participated in Powder Puff football, and continued the tradition of winning Spirit Week.

The Student Council was the heart Latin had seen in some time. Council meetings were held weekly throughout the summer. Consequently, many decisions had been made to insure an exciting year for all students. GLE students' wishes were being considered in many areas resulting in changes in the dress code and Sr. privileges.

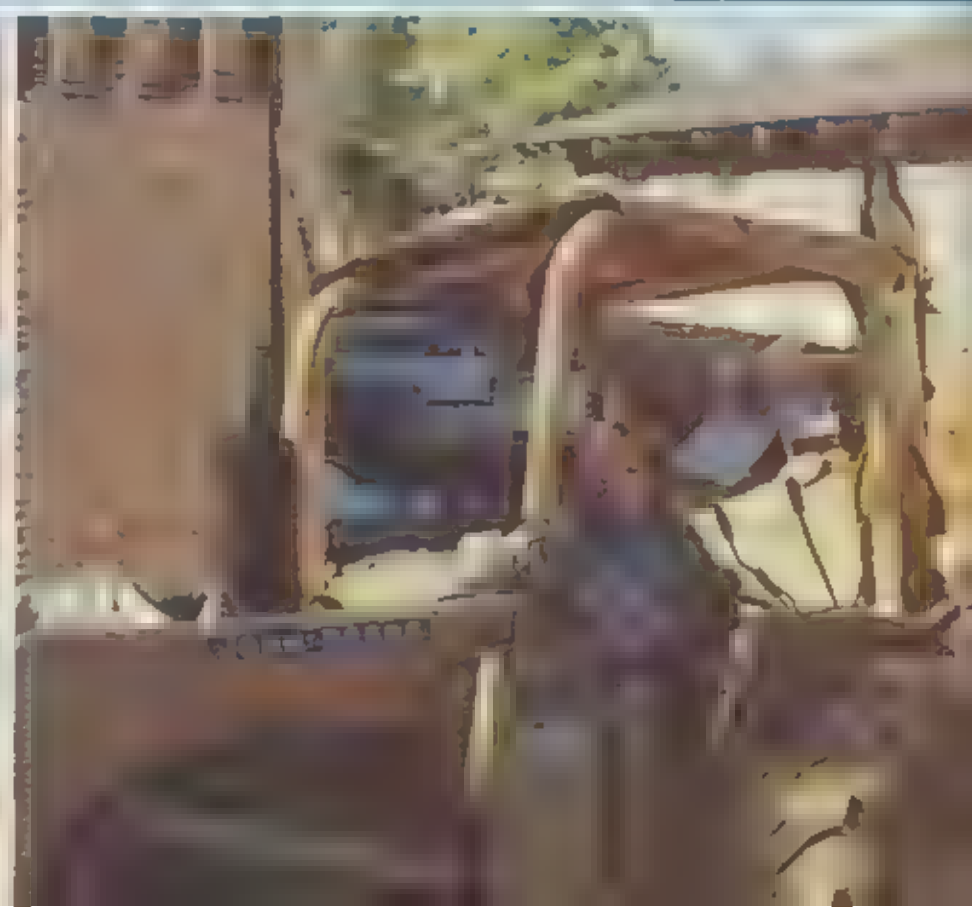

Another type of spirit demonstrated by GLE students was their patriotism before the elections. President Reagan's rally on October 8 attracted much of the Latin family. The school was also visited by Congressional candidates Alex McMillan and D. G. Martin.

Latin spirit engulfed not only the school but the entire city of Charlotte. Latin Mothers' drove station wagons plastered with special Latin logos. Spirit was everywhere. Join us, won't you, as we travel through these pages in order to catch that Latin spirit!

Dr. Fox, a native of Charleston, West Virginia, attended Rice, Johns Hopkins and Nova, as well as five other schools. Aside from his responsibilities at Latin, he enjoys teaching Sunday School and relaxing at home. His favorite football team is none other than the famous Charlotte Latin Hawks. Dr. Fox's favorite cities to visit are San Francisco, Washington, D.C. and New York City. His travels have taken him as far away as England. Despite all of his fascinating travels, Dr. Fox remains at Latin, where he is now enjoying his ninth challenging year.

Mr. Edwin Cox, returning for his third year, was born in Ashland, Virginia, and attended Randolph-Macon College in his hometown. Besides the Latin Hawks, he loves and follows his college football team, the Randolph-Macon Yellow Jackets! In addition to teaching tenth grade English, Mr. Cox plays a vital role in the future of the seniors. From September through November, seniors come by the dozens to schedule appointments for advice concerning college admissions. Aside from his active responsibilities at Latin, he enjoys reading and eating. He has traveled as far away as Labrador, and his favorite city is the popular Big Apple!

These two men, as well as the entire administration, have given a great deal of time and effort to help Latin grow and aspire. Their excellence and precision have been the foundation of a well run school; their high standards and total involvement have set a good example for the student body.

SPECIAL ELEMENTS

A NIGHT IN PARADISE

Last year's Junior-Senior Prom turned out to be a night in paradise. The junior class spent many months in preparation for the prom ultimately turning Raintree Country Club into a Polynesian Paradise including everything from palm trees to a volcano. Music was provided by the Targetz who kept everybody dancing until midnight. The prom was a colorful and fun way to officially welcome in spring, but most of all it turned out to be a night the seniors will always remember. Thanks goes to all faculty members and parents who generously gave their time and effort to help make the prom a success!

Opposite page, clockwise from top: Atlanta based band, the Targetz played hits from popular bands such as the Police, Squeeze, and the Rolling Stones. A group of juniors sit one out David Bowie let's dance . . . put on your red shoes and dance the blues. Andy Howell found himself in the wrong place at the wrong time CHEESE. Prom attendants Rebecca Nesbit and Gibby Smith join in on all the fun.

WHERE DID THE SUMMER GO?

What did you do during the summer of 1984? Clockwise above: Kenna Cloninger and Maria Copsis made new friends at Davidson's July Experience. Libby Tate spent most of her summer winning awards on horseback. Kim Mullis lived with a family in W. Germany. Cynthia Williams and Jenny McDonald spent their time just sailing around New England. Christy Thurston, Cathy Fletcher, and Beth Brabson visited Disneyland with the Handbells Choir. Alida Van Every was elected to go to Governor's School for art. Ken Hinrichs lived with a family in Switzerland. Dana Mossman enjoyed such sights as Stonehenge. Catriona Greig enjoyed the summertime in London.

HERE WE GO AGAIN

BRAINS VS. BRAWNY

Opposite page: In October, President Reagan made a well received campaign stop in Charlotte. A majority of Latin's student body attended the rally, enabling them to witness some of the strong support that Reagan received not only in the Tarheel state but also across the country. It was this strong support that led to Reagan's landslide victory over Walter Mondale. This page: Earlier this year, the Monogram Club challenged the faculty to a volleyball match. The match resulted in a victory for the students which enabled them to meet the teachers on an equal level of knowledge, even if it was just volleyball strategy.

THE BEGINNING OF THE END

Convocation, held on November 16th was the official recognition of our senior class of 1985. Clockwise from top left: Jörn Bleimann is proud to be a senior. Senior friendships were meant to last. SPECIAL SPIRIT

The excitement surrounding the spirit week in honor of the much anticipated Varsity Football game between our undefeated Hawks and the Country Day Buccaneers proved to be something very special. Juniors sold 200 shirts for the occasion, stating, "THE BRAWL FOR IT ALL, BUST THE BUCS '84," as a project to raise money for the prom. On Wednesday, the football team joined in by acting out a satirization of a typical Country Day football practice, followed by a "sexy legs" contest in which senior Joe Stanley won first prize. Seniors walked away with first place in the "DECORATE THE HALLS" competition on Thursday, adding to their already overwhelming lead which eventually led them to first place in the week's competition. Friday morning, senior football players woke to find that the varsity cheerleaders had visited during the night, decorating their yards and cars with signs and balloons. During a pep rally that day, students showed an unusual amount of spirit, indicative of the strong loyalty the team had received from the beginning of the season. Much to everyone's disappointment, the Hawks fell to the Bucs, their only defeat all season, with a very respectable 9-1 record. Though the game between Latin and Country Day each year contains a sense of intense and overly stressed importance, no one should hang his head over the defeat, for our team produced the best season Latin has ever seen. We are proud of each and every member of the varsity Football team, '84-'85.

AT THE PRESIDENT'S REQUEST

The Charlotte Latin Handbell Choir began their Christmas vacation with an invitation to play at the White House. On December 18, they played at the White House for guests of the President. Next, they played at the National Cathedral in Washington. This great honor is just one among many that the Choir had achieved since it was established at Latin.

CATCH IT!

CLS students caught that Latin spirit when the basketball teams met Country Day. Though the Varsity Boys lost by two at the buzzer, Latin 'won' with their tremendous support. Everyone attended the games wearing togas, carrying signs, and cheering with the cheerleaders. These close calls led Latin to seek revenge

Clockwise above: Sophomores shine with spirit Senior boys want to know when C D's Bill Broadway will graduate Shawn asks, "Do I have spirit or what?!"

BREAKFAST OF CHAMPIONS

The morning of the much anticipated game between our mighty Hawks and the Country Day Bucs began with a breakfast given by the Varsity and J.V. cheerleaders. The breakfast obviously had positive effects on the teams, for the Lady Hawks defeated the Bucs once again. But the big news was the Varsity boys' basketball game. They desperately wanted revenge for the heartbreaking two point defeat they suffered in an earlier game played at Country Day, and revenge is what they got! A gym full of spirited fans looked on as our boys played an extremely exciting game right up until the last few seconds when it became apparent that the Hawks were going to win! Both teams led thrilling seasons and added much excitement to the usually slow winter months. Thank you players, coaches, and managers, and remember Latin loves you!

Clockwise below: Coach Faulkner enjoys breakfast with Dr. Fox. Todd Capitano goes back for thirds. Sheri Geer shows what she thinks of Country Day. John Stoeber has a hard time focusing on his food so early in the morning. Rebecca Nesbit and Kelly Bailey may be champions, but they would rather be in bed. Bill Pitt and Charles DuBose are caught with their mouths full.

LATIN SERVES

Each year, the Key Club holds a Blood Drive in Latin's library, and as in previous years, it was a total success. Students, aged seventeen or older, were eligible to give blood, along with teachers and parents, who together donated more than 80 pints of blood for the Red Cross.

The Key Club, one of four Upper School service clubs at Latin, has had several projects this year. The club began this year by holding a dinner to talk about plans for the year at Gus Purcell's Fish Camp. The Key Club also brought in food and other items for the needy at Christmas. In addition, two members attended a weekly breakfast with their local club sponsor.

WINTER WEEKEND

Every February during Winter Weekend, Charlotte Latin students head for the mountains. Whether it is Beech Mountain, Sugar Mountain, or even Vail, Latin students always find someplace to show their spirit on the slopes. How sweet it is! This year's Varsity Football team had a remarkable season. On the way to compiling a 9-1 record, they accumulated numerous awards. David Betzold was named to the Observer All-County team. Billy Brown was selected as Channel Nine's Gridiron Great of the Week, and Head Coach Phil Sandifer was named Mecklenburg County Coach of the Year! The Hawks revenge last season's defeats against several teams, including a brilliant shutout of Providence Day. They looked to the eight seniors for leadership and it was certainly there. Their fine record is proof enough of the excellent coaching of Sandifer and his assistants Carl Noonan and Tommy Helms. All the effort and dedication culminated in a berth in the Observer's Sweet 16 ranking of area public and private schools. Because of the contributions of the underclassmen as well as the seniors, Latin Football will certainly be a force to be reckoned with in the future. Congratulations to the athletes and coaches who make this possible. Keep up the good work!

Success on the gridiron this year was certainly not limited to the Varsity Football Team. The J.V. squad had an outstanding season, finishing undefeated against all competition. In fact, they only had six points scored on them in a total of eight games. Enroute to the conference championship, they destroyed both Country Day and Providence Day twice each for the first time in Latin's history. Coached by Scott Smith and Jerry Faulkner, the team included such standouts as Cameron Dickerson, Andy Mermans, and Brian Anderson.

The football program at Latin has made tremendous improvements in recent years. This is a great credit to both the excellent coaching staffs and the dedicated athletes. Congratulations are certainly in order for the undefeated J.V. Hawks!

The Varsity Soccer Team coached by John Chewning ended a frustrating season with a respectable 6-10-3 record. With the early season loss of leading scorer, Shawn Cunningham, the team began to rely on a strong defensive game. Defender Cliff Sweet and goalie Mike Bryant led the team to nine shutouts. During the season, Scott James and Mark Riopel contributed several goals each. Highlights of the season included a victory over Greenfield in the Ravenscroft Tournament and an exceptionally well played game that ended in a thrilling overtime tie against Charlotte Country Day. Latin finished their regular season by defeating Northside Christian 3-0 after they had tied them earlier in the season. Overall, the team adjusted to injuries and improved greatly throughout the season.

This year's J.V. Soccer Team ended another successful season with a 10-3 record. They began with a bang, placing first for the fourth consecutive year in the Bollingbrooke Tournament. They were especially pleased with a 1-0 victory over Forsyth Country Day, and with three wins over Charlotte Catholic, the last one coming in the C.L.S. Invitational Tournament.

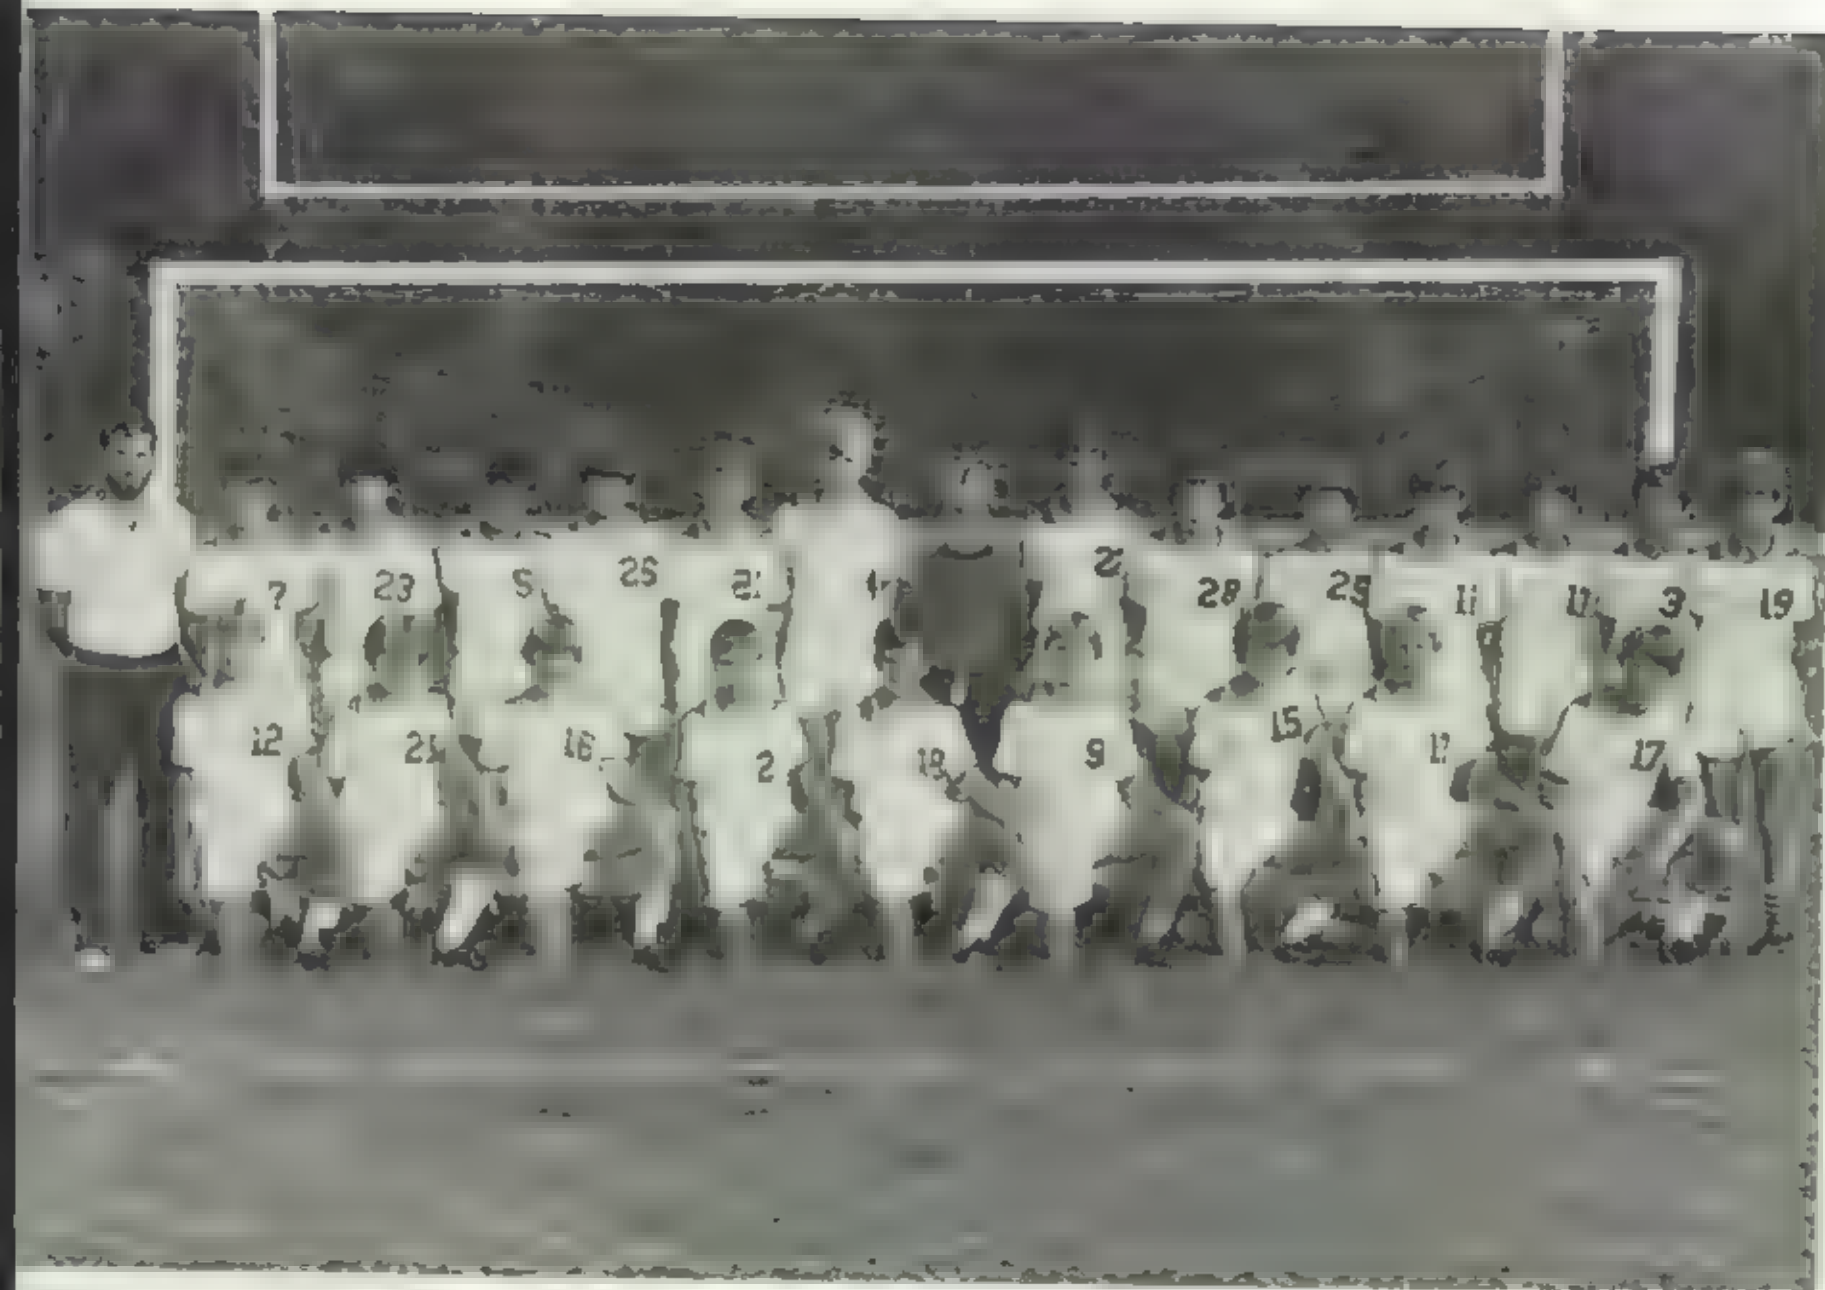

Captains Tommy Cummings, Mitchell Wickham, and Wes Martin led this young team through their winning season. The team was unified and played well backed by outstanding performances from Andy Clark, Marshall Thomas, Eric Nichols, Andy Thompson, and Chris Martin.

Coach Colwin Carmichael, completed his first season at Latin, pleased with the team's success this year.

The Junior High Soccer Team can best be described as having unlimited potential. Coached by a Latin graduate, Buck Bryant, the team, which ended the regular season with a 6-1-3 record, was composed of a majority of seventh graders. They started the season with a 4-0 record. In 10 games they scored fourteen goals led by Ryan Dienst and Mark Maginty. They had only four goals scored against them with defensive help by sweeper, Jeff Woodard. In the CLS Invitational Tournament, they defeated Charlotte Christian 3-2 to advance to the final round. In a hard-fought championship game, they were defeated 1-0 by Saint Gabriel's. Coach Bryant was pleased with the success of this very young team.

Spirit, enthusiasm, and skill were the backbone of the 1984 Varsity Volleyball team. From the beginning the team excelled and showed tremendous potential with new coach Kit Rea. Rea, eager to produce an excellent team, began working the girls in August with drills, conditioning stations, and timed sprints. The hard work was not the main ingredient that made the girls so successful; it was the faith Rea instilled in each of them. Charlotte Latin's Lady Hawks were second in their conference and seeded third in the District Tournament. From the team, "Thanks for the support. We love you Ms. Rea . . . Hustle, Hustle, Hustle."

V-I-C-T-O-R-Y! With determination, positive attitudes, and the desire to win, the Varsity Girls' Field Hockey team improved and finished their season strong. An exceptionally large number of new players enabled the team to be divided into Varsity A and Varsity B teams. The Varsity B team improved tremendously by the end of the season and received the experience they needed for future years.

The Varsity A team ended the regular season with a 4-5-3 record. They, too, showed great improvement by defeating teams near the end of the season, whom they had lost to earlier. The highlight of the season was a first time victory over Country Day. The girls played hard and won with a beautiful goal in the final of the first half.

Charlotte Latin was privileged to host the first State Championship in field hockey this year. Eight tough teams vied for the state title, and provided for an exciting weekend in Charlotte. The Lady Hawks defeated Asheville Country Day School in the first round by going into overtime and double flickoff. They lost to Charlotte Country Day, but beat Durham Academy 2-1 to place third in the state. They have really come a long way! Although the win-loss record indicated a losing season, the Lady Hawks considered themselves to be winners in that they had mastered necessary skills, established team unity and gained much confidence.

Rebecca Nesbit chases the opponent up the field.

Clockwise: Goalie Rachel Mercer is distracted by the camera. Heidi Hufstetler, Leigh Anne Forlidas, Betsy Plumlee, and Rachel Mercer celebrate after an exciting victory over Country Day. Rebecca Nesbit concentrates on the game.

J.V. FIELD HOCKEY

The J.V. field hockey team, with extreme will and determination, finished their season 7-3-2. The girls started out strong with a 4-3 victory over Christ Church, and they maintained the same strength throughout the season. They were truly a fine example of a unified team that worked extremely well together. Many of the games were decisive victories such as an overwhelming victory of 6-0 against Durham Academy. With an aggressive forward line and a relentless defense, there was no way they could go wrong!

Newcomer coach, Ngaio Carlisle was a big contribution to the team's success. It was her experience and dedication plus the girls' determination that led to a successful season. Mrs. Carlisle feels that the team has developed plenty of depth for future years. Here is to a successful future!

Well, there they go again! This year's Girls' Varsity tennis team consisted of 13 excellent players who have won Latin's fourth consecutive State Championship, which was also the fourth for the six seniors on the squad. Outstanding players were seniors Fiz Anderson, Blair Tyler and Flora Robinson, as well as sophomores Caroline Inman and Wendy Reider. Flora, who has played on the Varsity team for five years, has never lost an individual match.

This year's coaching staff has been a major part of the success of this team. Mrs. Bev Culbertson, a member of the North Carolina Tennis Hall of Fame, heads up the outstanding tennis program. She received valuable assistance from Fender Murphy, a graduate of Latin; Kelly Kayton, a student at UNCC; Wendy Wilson, last year's J.V. Boys' tennis coach; and Page McEachern, a fourth grade teacher.

Despite an undefeated record, some matches were still close. Latin's big rival Greensboro Day, gave them a tough time, but as usual the Lady Hawks came out on top. They also gave Country Day a 9-0 thrashing. Dedicated coaches and hard working players showed North Carolina once again that Latin is number one in tennis!

VARSITY B

The 7 member Varsity B tennis team soared to a perfect season's record of 10-0, with wins over Garinger, Concord, and North Mecklenburg. The squad also had exciting victories over Greensboro Day's Varsity B team and Providence Day's Varsity squad. The season culminated with Latin's second match against Country Day's bottom six seeded varsity players. The match went to the wire, all depending on the last doubles match. The Hawks held on to repeat their victory over the Bucs.

Spirit and encouragement from coaches Pender Murphy and Kelly Kayton supported the team's efforts to achieve a perfect record.

J.V.

Even though this year's young J.V. girls' tennis team had only two returning players from last year, they nevertheless, finished the season with a fabulous 9-2 record.

In two matches against Country Day, the Hawks swooped on the Bucs who never knew what hit them. These two victories will remain in each player's mind for a long time. The team also sported wins against Gaston Day, Forsyth Country Day, Greensboro Day, and Durham Academy. Their only losses came from two matches with Summit.

Page McEachern, a fourth grade teacher, and Wendy Wilson, last year's boys' J.V. tennis coach, brought forth the full potential of each member of the team, and by doing so obtained the best possible results, as shown by the J.V. team's record.

CROSS COUNTRY

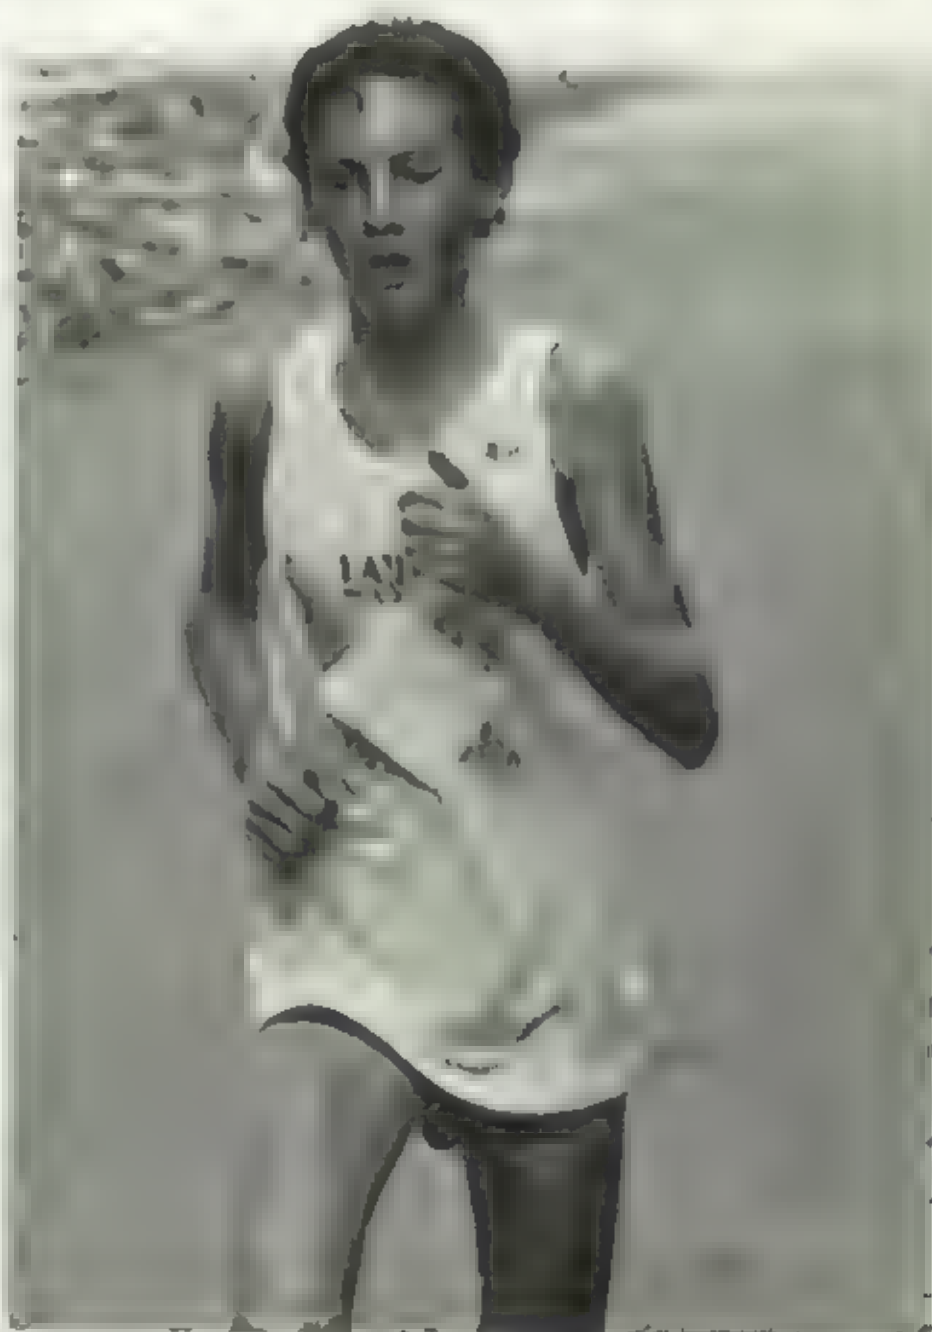

Over the river and through the woods . . . No, we're not talking about sleighs here, but the Charlotte Latin Cross Country Team instead. This year's squad was one of the largest ever, consisting of nine boys and seven girls. One of the highlights of the season was placing ahead of Country Day in the conference tournament. Unfortunately, the team will lose its five seniors — Paul O'Shea, Tor Blizzard, Sarah Hartsock, Harrison Warner, and Bo Hormberg. On the bright side, they have several powerful runners remaining, including Tommy Marshall, Carl Hendricks, and Chris Lowden. So if you happen to be walking through the woods around Latin next fall, do not be surprised to find the familiar blue and white leading the pack.

Clockwise: Sarah Hartsock races towards the finish line. Tor Blizzard extends his lead on the pack. The girls team poses before the start of another meet. Bill Blackmon, one of the future stars of Latin Cross Coun-

Effort and enthusiasm — that was all Coach Faulkner asked of the team in his first year at Latin, and it was evident to all that he got it. Stressing defense and team play

Coach Faulkner and assistant, Mike Bailey, guided the team to its most successful season in years. Not only did they defeat Country Day twice and Providence Day for the first time in six years, but they also beat half the teams that played in the state tournament, as well as every public school they faced. Senior tri-captains John Bleiman, Todd Capitano, and John Stoever greatly contributed to the 18-6 record and will be missed, but with the many excellent underclassmen still left, next year promises to be as exciting as this one. Coach Faulkner's system of basketball is new to Latin, but we have already seen the future — and it's awe-

Talk about underdogs! This year's Varsity-B Basketball team, consisting only of ninth graders, played all their games against teams of mainly tenth graders. Coach Pete McEachern and his players adapted well to the new basketball system though. Using many of the same plays and defenses that the Varsity did, they upset several teams. Carl Fisher, a left-handed forward, was named most valuable player, and Chip Crockett received the Coach's Award. These players, as well as their teammates, should provide excitement on the varsity level in years to come.

Many have come to expect good things from the J.V. Basketball program, but this year's boys' team was something else. They began their season by playing against several public schools as well as area All Star teams. Coach Jim Rutherford worked to make them one of the best teams ever at Latin. Along with assistant Kevin Callaghan, he guided them towards the league championship. The boys finished undefeated in the conference with wins over Country Day and Providence Day. We can only expect great things from these players in the future.

SPECTACULAR!

This one word sums up the Varsity girls' basketball season this year. They finished with a 22-5 record: undefeated in the conference, and STATE CHAMPIONS in the NCISSA. The young team was led by the two senior co-captains, K. Mullis and B. Tyler, and three juniors, K. Bailey, C. Greig, and R. Nesbit. The talented sophomores added depth gained by J.V. experience and improved their ability as their first Varsity season progressed.

Blair, Kelly, and Catriona were nominated to the all-conference team and received team honors as well, such as MVP Defense, MVP Offense, and Miss Hustle respectively. Kim Mullis, due to her consistently good performance, senior leadership, and overall good attitude, earned the coaches award.

Including tournament play, the girls defeated PDS, CCDS, and Northside three times in the season. In their first meeting with PD, the Lady Hawks savored a sweet victory over the Chargers by forty-two points. In the last game against CD, the team knocked them out of the state tournament, coming within one point of doubling their score, in an exciting game. In the intense state final against Ravenscroft, the girls kept their composure and emerged victorious! They certainly earned their title of NCISSA state champions. Thanks to two great coaches — Mrs. Kelly and Miss Real!

The J.V. girls' Basketball team overcame its loss of eight veteran players to have a great season this year. After losing once to Country Day by only a few points, they came back to defeat them by a landslide in the final game of their 7-4 season. Sarah Faber was an outstanding player this year, and the five new seventh graders gave a lot of valuable support to the team, and gained much-needed experience as well.

This year's team followed up last year's state championship with a tremendous record and a great season under master coach, Scott "Eugene" Smith. Coach Smith was aided in his leadership role by Senior captains Richard Fletcher and Mike Starnes. Seniors David Betzold, Billy Brown, and Salem Suber also played a vital role in the team's outstanding performance.

Judges and timers ready? Swimmers take your mark, BANG! Charlotte Latin's swim team had another successful year due to the dedication of Coach Steve Howard and the unity of the swimmers. These enthusiastic swimmers cheered their teammates to many team and individual victories. Many seniors have participated in the CLS swimming program since Middle School. Led by returning senior girls Debra Holland, Susan McAlister, Wendy Diamond, Paige Estep, Carol Shuford, and Sarah Hartsock, spirit soared to new heights. Bo Hornberg was the only returning senior on the boys team. The swim team also had many young and talented swimmers who will provide CLS with many future victories.

Spirit can describe any cheerleading squad; that's why it only begins to describe the 1984-85 Varsity Cheerleaders. Their bright signs, encouraging smiles and special surprises in lockers carried many of Latin's teams to victory. Donna McGarity, supervisor, returned this year with an open mind and a warm heart, therefore, bringing out the best. A special thanks should be said to these girls for their hard work, long hours, and continuing support. Congratulations on an outstanding year!

TRACK

Although they don't get the recognition they deserve, the spring sports teams are some of the hardest working teams at Latin. They devoted much of their winter to weightlifting and conditioning in order to excel in their upcoming seasons. The track team is taking in a new look this year; the girls are coached by Sharon Rogerson while Skeeter Davis is in charge of the boys. The teams travel and practice together, yet they compete separately. Good Luck to the girls and boys track teams of 1985!!

"I love school — it's fun!!"

Mrs. Totherow's class is very enthusiastic about being at Latin this year. They "sort of like music" and love to play on the playground or in the gym. They enjoy making things such as igloos and thermometers in class, and Lincoln Logs are a popular item. Their favorite people are Mrs. Totherow and Mrs. Howell. One student sums it all up by saying, "I like everything."

This year, Mrs. Fuller's class enjoyed things such as Science experiments, doing bulletin boards, and holding class meetings. The class is learning lots about Science and Math, and likes to read books about children their own age. Some favorite activities of Mrs. Fuller's students are making puppets and writing and producing their own puppet shows. The class styles this year have been Guess jeans, Mia shoes, and C.B. jackets.

HAWKS!
C.L.S. is #1

Mrs. Bickett's class is learning so much this year! For example, they have mastered the concepts of matter, astronomy, the systems of the body, animals, U.S. History, English grammar, decimals, and much more! The students look very stylish in their parachute pants, large sweaters, velcro shoes, and dangling earrings. In their free time, Mrs. Bickett's fifth graders enjoy four square, games, eating outside, and waiting to get to MIDDLE SCHOOL.

Their favorite activities include playing four square, basketball, drawing, talking, and horseback riding. They enjoy doing math and crafts, and are learning about U.S. History, Astronomy, the parts of speech, and decimals. Students say "The work is hard, but we're not bored." . . . "I like school because the teachers are nice." . . . "WE'RE LOOKING FORWARD TO MIDDLE SCHOOL!"

CANDIDS

Fun, friends, and good times!

This year, lower school students are just bursting with new ideas. They are working hard and doing their best to make learning a new and fun experience. Whether they are on the playground or in the classroom, lower schoolers have smiles on their faces!

Lower Schoolers are always up to something new!

Just hanging around, doing our thing!

Clockwise from below: These girls are truly "hanging around." Two lower schoolers dressed up for Halloween. Katie Archer and Wade Mylan are anxiously waiting for class. Jenny Skinner, Kim Hauch, and Eric Zion show their spirit in the lower school hall. This group of friends love the playground. Mrs. Cook's class learns about P.E. Amy Hawfield slides with a smile. Adrian Kunda says "cheese." Stacey Yaged concentrates on her artwork. Lisa Bryan sits atop the jungle gym.

Middle School Student Government, otherwise known as the Student Government Association has been very active both on and off campus. Many students participate whether they are officers, representatives or middle school students with free time on their hands. The president of SGA is eighth grader Brian Kouri, aided by vice president Elizabeth Tisdale, secretary Jeff Woodward, and treasurer Jillian Marcus. The advisor is Mrs. Vinroot who also teaches biology and counsels students.

This active group of students, that serves the student body, has sponsored many programs and has many plans for the future. One of the activities which the entire Middle School participated in was Spirit Week. The most memorable event was Tacky Day. Some of the teachers dressed up in their tackiest clothes to amuse the students during class. At the end of Spirit Week, the SGA had a dance in which everything was decorated blue and white. Spirit Week was a great success because the unity and spirit of the middle school was spectacular.

The SGA sponsored the first Thanksgiving program in the Middle School at Latin. Students contributed food to be given to Loaves and Fishes, a charity organization. The students collected enough food to run Mrs. Tuten, head of the middle school, out of her office.

This enthusiastic bunch also had biscuit sales for the Lower School students. The SGA and representatives would go to each lower school class and receive orders for biscuits. During lunchtime, the volunteers for this particular project would deliver the hot biscuits to each class.

The SGA had a Christmas dance which was a great success. Admission to the dance was a toy to be given to Toys For Tots. During December, the SGA also made a twenty-five dollar donation to Mission Air in the name of Charlotte Latin Middle School.

Many other activities are planned for the winter and spring of 1985. One idea is to have a student-faculty volleyball game with one-half the proceeds being donated to a worthwhile organization. There will also be a clothing drive in January. The clothing will be given to Crisis Military and clothes will be distributed to needy children. Before Easter vacation, the SGA hopes to have bunny grams, delivered by the Easter Bunny.

Mrs. Vinroot says, "Our main goal this year is to have more student involvement." President Brian Kouri says, "The students are participating more which adds to middle school spirit as well as to Charlotte Latin." More activities and participation for the school and community are another main goal, and the SGA seems to have achieved it. Their hard work and determination have shown spirit for this year's middle school.

OFFICERS DO IT WITH CLASS

Class officers serve as leaders of our campus. Seniors (at left: Sarah, Phil, Kerl, and Maria) set up committees and perform other important functions. Juniors (at right: Rebecca, Nicole, Marty, and Dana) plan a successful prom with "The Tones". Sophomores (lower left: Tommy, Jennifer, Brian, and Heidi — who was previously engaged) go on trips the Juniors are not allowed to plan. Finally, the Freshmen (lower right: Mary Bradley, Ann, and Randy) worry about the adjustment to Upper School.

CATCH THAT...

... LATIN SPIRIT

Clockwise from top left: J. B. invents a new form of soccer; Can I have a ride home? Where's Ann? Nesbit and Fletcher; No one poses for candid photos, right?

Clockwise: Life is a what. Cathy? Are we having fun yet? After contemplating you-know-what, Anna returns to her research. Hey, John Stoeve! Johnny and Keith discuss their idol, Leona. Obviously the computer program worked.

Clockwise: Juniors react with glee to the announcement that there will be no Upper School Poll Page in this year's yearbook. Sociable Sophomores. A blurry Charles DuBose (so to speak). It's a rare moment when Dick actually sits down.

SPIRIT SPIRIT SPIRIT

Spirit . This is the word that describes this year's 1985 Eyry staff. Under the leadership of Mrs. Giles, Kerl Hinrichs, and Betsy Plumlee, this dedicated group of students spent their third period and many frustrating hours organizing a book of memories and special events. Throughout the year, these students spent their time typing, drawing layouts, selling ads, and writing endless amounts of copy. But as the year comes to an end, all of the hard work from this enthusiastic bunch pays off and a successful book is created for a school with spirit, class, and style!

SENIORS

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Spirit . . . It gives this year's senior class a reason to celebrate. It has been a long hard race to the end, but once we reach that finish line, we will have more reason to cheer. There have been many memories that provided endurance and kept us striving for that diploma.

It first started with Miss Vandiver and her many games that kept us busy. We passed through second grade quietly. Third grade kept us on our toes, especially when Flora pulled the fire alarm. Fourth and fifth grades were fun, for we were the leaders of the lower school. As we left kickball, Grandparent's Day, hopscotch, and Mrs. Williams' music class in the foyer, our growing class was just beginning to overcome the obstacles.

Middle School was a time for fun but hard work. Changing classes and getting a top locker were just a few signs of independence. We will never forget Camp Broadstone and the seventh grade trip to Franklin, N.C. to pan for rubies. Miss Brice's exciting English class, and Peter and Ginny's undeserved visit to Mr. McEachern's office were just a few events from memory lane. Mr. Soesbee's pass or fail quizzes were reminders that we were not finished yet. Let's take time out to look at those Middle School romances, Holiday Cotillion dances, and Saturdays at Southpark. Remember the familiar faces of Peter and Flora, Fiz and Adams, Andy and Wendy, Betsy and Rufus, and Kristin's endless crushes on Teddy.

As we began the ninth grade, we realized the race was far from over. Mrs. Vinroot's dissection of frogs, Mr. Moore's war stories, and the hassle of being referred to as "freshmen" will always be worthwhile memories. As sophomore year approached, one by one, we became mobile, and the real fun started. Parties were the talk of the weekends, and Slick's "quizzes" were the week-day dilemmas. The junior year kept us busy, and the class was approaching its goal sooner than expected. SAT's, lake parties, church sliding, hot-tub parties, Super Bowl parties, and Easter Weekend at the beach were the highlights. Shawn's appearance at McDonald's will always remind us to use caution when buying cheeseburgers. Working diligently at Kim's house, we created our own "Tropical Paradise," but despite the papier maché and paint fights, we managed.

Now that we are seniors, we have many memories that keep us striving for that blue ribbon at the end. Andrew Jackson State Park and Debra's Pig Pickin' were the start of the unification of the senior class. College applications kept us busy during the fall, but that did not prevent us from celebrating our early victories such as capturing the tennis state title, Morehead nominees, and a 9-1 record in football. If there was no need for a party, the class found a reason. We have to give credit to our friend "OTIS", for helping us when the times were rough. We received an "extra boost" of encouragement from our friends as well as families and teachers. All those special senior romances throughout the year, such as AC + JB, FA + JL, KH + SS, QC + CG, LM + MJ, KG + TH, KM + BB, SH + RT, and MC + CM made the last year unforgettable. The NYC trip seemed to be the best part of our race. We did leave our mark at the Waldorf and Clancy's to show New York that the class of '85 will be the winner. Winter Weekend at Sugar, the Sadie Hawkins dance with the smash hit, Liquid Pleasure, the "Prince Bus", and Easter Break at Myrtle Beach were pre-victory parties as we approached the finish line. Thanks to all those who helped make the class of '85 the Class of '85, especially Mr. Smith and Mr. Dillard.

But as we look at our short cuts, mistakes, and difficult routes, we realize that we have come a long way and nothing else matters, as long as we reach that finish line. As the special day arrives, the cheering becomes louder, the butterflies increase rapidly, and the tears flow freely. When we step into the new auditorium, each of us will receive a "blue ribbon" that will remind us of our wonderful years at Latin. The spirited class of '85 is victorious and we did it in style!

There comes a time to say good-bye.
A time which makes a grown man cry.
A time to laugh, a time to cheer,
for things which happened
throughout the years.
You remember friends close and dear.
Friends you'll not see for many a year.
Friends you've come to know
and love,
and trust things known but to God above
But two special friends you'll always cherish.
Memories of whom will never perish.
Your best friend with whom you've shared the most,
and the true love of which you'll always boast.

The one who made those special years until the day you parted with tears.
The memories of whom will never fade.
The dreams you had and the plans you made.
We'll meet again another year.
We'll reminisce we'll joke and cheer.
For the times we've had both good and bad,
will always leave us happy, never to be sad.

Mary,
 The year sucked, but I went by fast. I'm glad I know you. You're a really good friend and are always there when I miss you. I hope I get to see you a lot this summer. Maybe we can do something and drive over his wreck (talk). This morning some guys came and picked Martin up for Key Club.

Congratulations to the dearest and most loving Senior Class ever, and best wishes for a long and healthy life filled with happiness and success.

they came at about 6:30. They didn't let him take a shower and dressed him up in real gay clothes. Then Martin had to take them to Key Club. He was a girl up there but there is a great friend and you're really glad to let us have a great summer. I hope I can come to let a great girl.

From friends who love you dearly.

Love you,
 Myers

After four long years of yearbook traumas, finishing this book is a big relief! Even though yearbook has caused many headaches and loss of sleep along the way, I am sure our staff will be proud of this book. Remember how we wanted it to be the best ever? In my opinion, it is. My thanks to everybody on the staff for all their hard work and for putting up with my "speeches" when things got rough; to my family for living with just about anything around deadline time; to Mrs. Giles for being a great advisor; to Mary for always being ready to lend a helping hand (good luck next year!); to all of the photographers, especially Harrison who finally pulled through (after much harassment!); to all of our super artists, who made this book creative; and to my two special friends and fellow editors, Betsy and Margo, who I could never have done without. With all the "quad-packs", copy-fitting, and proofreading behind us, we can enjoy this fantastic book that has been such a big part of my senior year! Thanks for all the memories Latin, I'll miss you.

Keri Hinrichs

Editor-in-Chief

After four long years of being on the Etry staff, I must admit that I am looking forward to passing the headaches on to someone else! In all seriousness though, I have really enjoyed it all. It is the best feeling putting so much time and effort into a yearbook, especially when you see the final result. I am the type of person that could thank thousands, but there are some special people I would especially like to thank. To Keri Hinrichs, I thank for the hour-long conversations on the phone concerning copy, all the many answers to the many questions I asked, and for the friendship through it all. To Mom Giles, I thank for the super advisorship plus the personal advice. To Margo Fuller, I thank also for the friendship, and especially the impressive job on that ladder! (She never got into academics, but she surely enjoyed working hours on the book.) To the yearbook staff, I first ask for forgiveness for my many temper tantrums, and I thank them for a wonderful, spirited book! To the photographers, I thank for their grinning and bearing it, and all the many pictures. To CLS, I thank for the wonderful opportunity I was given, which was this class, and thanks for bending some rules. Finally, to my family, I thank for living, eating, and breathing yearbook for the past four years, and for keeping my dinner warm all those late nights! Enough is said. We wanted to make this yearbook the best ever, and I feel that with all the above special people, especially Keri, we gave you a book to remember!

Betsy Plumlee

Assistant Editor

Now that the final yearbook deadline has been completed, it seems so easy to forget what we all went through as a staff throughout the year. I'm sure everyone will remember all those "fun" deadlines and our constant search for pictures. I'd like to thank all the others on the staff or putting up with me on all those days when I ran around demanding all those pages I guess no one thought they would ever have to turn in. Thank you, Mrs. Giles for being our advisor, and remaining basically calm during all those times when we started to wonder if we could ever pull it all together. Of all the yearbooks you acquire throughout your school years, your senior high school yearbook is said to be the most special. Thanks Charlotte Latin for giving me the best senior year I could have hoped for, and thanks for the best yearbook any senior could want.

In Memory of Charlie Orr,
Teacher and Friend

Memory: of a backpacking trip with sophomores in high school. Although for days we followed the high, remote ridges swept with mist and bright leaves, we could not escape the City. Like the compass needle's returning to one point, so did our talk concern the one prize gratifying adolescent hikers' efforts — hamburgers at McDonald's. I could not help but notice, on arriving there, the dozens of other people like ourselves who released themselves to mountains of burgers and fries and straws of semilactic shakes. I could not help but think of energy spent not on the steady climbing of mountains, but on idling in the "drive-thru", for food as convenient as some spellings. We turned from Tintern Abbey to a technology with an increasing appetite for speed.

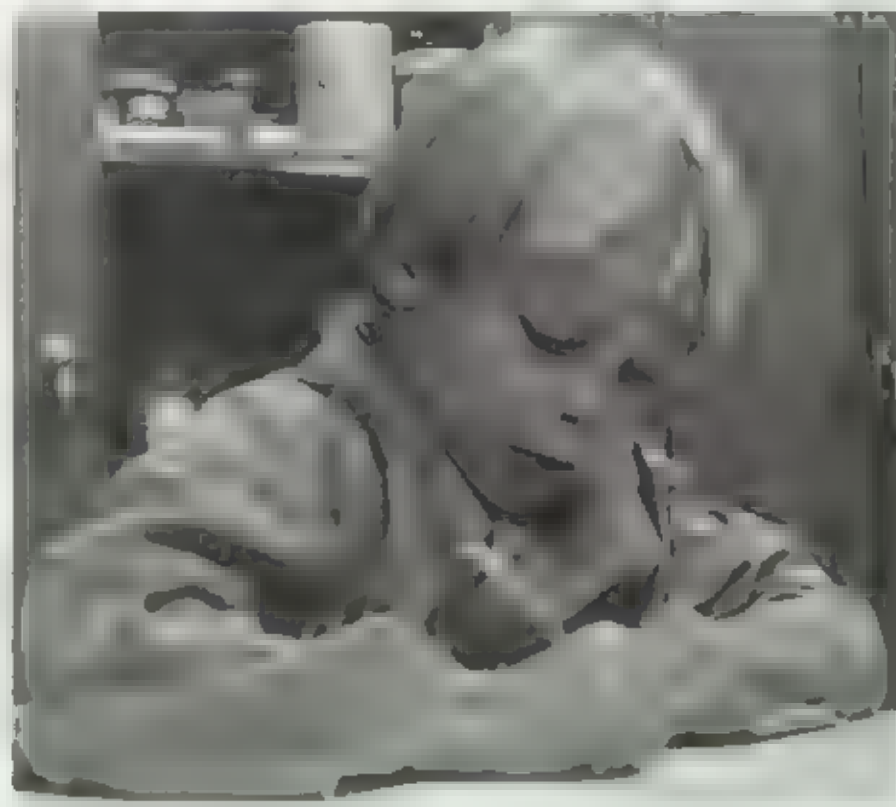

A living memory: of people reading in the Blue Parlor and on the porches, on green chairs before the Green Mountains. Now I see people reading, talking, and writing — and listening to other people discuss how to better read, talk, write. We devour words instead of burgers and shakes; we partake of word-feast. What happened to people who put the drive-thru behind them and take seriously the notion that "you are what you read"?

Mary,

I'm so glad this year has finally ended. I hope you had a better one than I. Don't tell Lynwood this, "but get out while you're still young." This school ruins you, I've come to that conclusion! You really ought to change, you would have so much fun at W.C! But enough of that, you're a really cute girl and a lot of fun and I hope that you have a wild summer. Call me some time this summer and we can go out to lunch! 541-6269.

Love ya always,
Suzanne K.

Mary, I'm so glad the year is almost over 3rd period was a
total party, yay!
I'm glad though, that you
I have stayed friends - and moving up to a sophomore is about better too - driving, going to parties and just having fun! I hope I see you this summer! Good luck with everything -
See you! Love,
Cathy

Mary,
I'm so glad I got to know
you this year, I hope you have a great summer with lots of fun things to do!
You're so "cute" and "sweet" and I'm sure our friendship will last a long time! Call me this summer and we'll go out!
PS. Keep being a sweet sister!

Love always,
Laura (sister)

To my dear friend
with love if every you need some one to say something to i will all way be your friend
James

To My Little sister,
How do you go? You finally in the Upper School and you are about to become a sophomore. Incredible! I don't to see you at any parties or I'll put you over my knee.
I can't say Good-bye b/c
I'll probably be at your house that summer.

Your bro,

James

P.S.: whenever you don't want to be Lynwood's sister & roll in the hay
tell me.

Mary -
I'm so glad this year is over! I can't believe I'll be a senior & you'll be a sophomore next year!
This year has been so getting to know you & having fun (3rd period huh!)! Mary you're so sweet. Thank for being such a good friend
I hope I see you this summer. (give me a call!)
Love always -
Winn
